[05~07] 다음 글을 읽고 물음에 답하시오.

In 1989, Mark Wellman finally succeeded in climbing to the top of El Capitan, a 900 meter rock wall in Yosemite National Park, California. His success was special because he couldn't move the lower half of his body.

Mark climbed the rock, holding the rope tightly and pulling himself up. 10 He could lift his body only 15 centimeters at a time. He had to pull the rope more than 6,000 times over nine days to reach the top. He succeeded in the face of the hot summer weather.

When reporters asked Mark how he made it, he said, "Just 15 centimeters at a time." Each time he thought only about ㉠15센티미터를 위로 이동하는 방법. He realized his dream by moving 15 centimeters more than 6,000 times. 16 Mark said, "If you have a dream, it can become a reality only when you make a great effort to achieve it.
