[7-8] 다음 글을 읽고, 물음에 답해 봅시다.

Pain, both physical and emotional, demands our full attention. (A) It's as though the pain is telling us there is something wrong that needs to be fixed. But that attention is like sticking your tongue in a cavity; _____ . You begin to think that your problem is bigger and more important than it really is. Although some acute problems can be fixed, like the toothache I just mentioned, there are many problems you just have to live with. But how can we live with a problem that might cause us physical or emotional pain? One way is to look at it through a wider lens.

7. 위 글의 빈칸에 들어갈 알맞은 것은?

- ① it can make the pain worse

The student does, and of course the water tastes terribly salty. "Now," says the teacher, pointing to a spring that's bubbling from the ground, "I want you (B) pour a tablespoon of salt into that spring water."

- (A) put → _____
 (B) pour → _____

10. 다음 글의 주제로 알맞은 것은?

Black tea accounts for over 75% of all tea that is made. It has a strong, bitter flavor and deep reddish color that comes from its long fermentation process. Many different methods and varieties are used in the different producing regions, but the process always involves four basic steps: withering, rolling, fermenting, and firing.

Green teas are often referred to as 'non-fermented' or 'unfermented' teas. The freshly picked leaves are allowed to dry, then are heat-treated to stop any fermentation that would rot the leaf.

Oolong, meaning Black Dragon, is usually from China or Taiwan. Oolong tea is generally referred to as 'semi-fermented' tea and is widely prized for its digestive benefits. It is a cross between black tea and green tea. Oolong tea has a smoother taste that is not as strong as black tea and doesn't have the grassy flavor of green tea.

White tea is the world's rarest tea as it can only be picked for a few weeks in any one year when the plants are very young. The new buds are plucked before they open, withered to allow the natural moisture to evaporate, and then dried. This method of processing keeps the white tea leaves closer to their natural state. White tea is distinguished by its delicate, soft taste and light color.

[13~15] 다음 글을 읽고, 물음에 답해 봅시다.

The World Health Authority suggests (A) a day/ two liters / should / everyone / drink/ of water and have access to at least fifteen. But access to water, like access to food, (B) tie to wealth and politics. In Africa, on average, each person uses only ten liters of water a day, while in the UK, for example, people use ten times their allocation - 150 liters in washing machines, toilets and dishwashers.

As of 2007, Koreans use 175 liters a day at home. With all these new ways to use water and an increased population, it's not surprising that water consumption has sharply increased since the 1950s.

Script

1. W: Danny, why do you look so worried?
 M: My paper is due tomorrow, but my brother is sick and I have to take him to the hospital. How am I going to finish my paper in time?
 W: Everything will be fine. Actually, I'm on my way to the mall to buy some drinks. Do you want me to take your brother to the hospital for you?
 M: Oh, my God. Will you do that for me? Thank you so much!
 W: Just be sure to finish writing your paper in time. Professor Kim would be very mad, if you didn't.
 M: OK. Next time you need help, just call me.

2. W: Hello. Tuna sandwich and coffee as usual?
 M: Hmm.. actually, can I have something different today?
 W: Sure. What would you like?
 M: I'll have a club sandwich.
 W: OK. Can I get you anything to drink?
 M: I'll have an iced tea, please.

3. W: Jacob, what are we going to do? Somebody's knocking on the door!
 M: Shhh, be quiet. I'll peep out the window and see who's at the door.
 W: OK. What do you see?
 M: I see man, but I don't recognize him. Let's open the door and ask him.
 W: No. Have you forgotten what Mom told us? She said never open the door to strangers.
 M: Fine. Let's just be quiet and pretend that no one's here.
