This is such a popular sport because anyone can engage in it. No matter where you live, usually within an hour from your home is a place for this. Girls can be good at this like boys. Every member of your family can learn to enjoy it individually or together. Indeed, this can be enjoyed with a cane pole and a few hooks regardless of age, sex, or income. Perhaps the greatest appeal of this is the opportunity to enjoy the companionship of friends, to learn interesting facts about nature and to use varied skills, such as throwing a bait into the water with a hook and line.

- ① fishing
- ② yachting
- ③ swimming
- ④ windsurfing
- ⑤ scuba diving

19. 밑줄 친 them이 가리키는 대상이 나머지 넷과 다른 것은?

In Australia, scientists are training little animals called quokkas to run away from danger, as they don't want ① them to be an endangered species. A hundred years ago, there were no foxes in Australia. So the little guys never learned to be afraid of ② them. Today, foxes are all over Australia. The fearless quokkas can get hurt by these new predators, and their number is decreasing. To teach ③ them to run away, wildlife experts use dogs specially trained to chase but not hurt quokkas. The experts also bring out a stuffed fox when a dog is chasing ④ them. This teaches ⑤ them to be afraid when they see a fox.

I'm glad for you, excellent students, to enter this school and it's my pleasure to tell you something. Now that you are in high school, you will have more pressures of school and extra-curricular activities. So time management will become extremely important. Teachers, parents, and peers can also put a lot of pressure on you to do more and do well in school. The best way to deal with all that is to make sure you have time for everything you need to do, while leaving time to enjoy yourself. Remember that the right balance between relaxation and work will lead to success in all things.

- ① 학교생활 규칙을 안내하려고
- ② 스트레스 해소법을 소개하려고

Petra, in southern Jordan, is an amazing ancient city. ① Its buildings and temples were cut out of solid rock dating back 2,000 years. Because it is hidden deep in the mountains, for 700 years very few people knew Petra existed. ② Despite there were reports of a lost city in the area, no one could find it. ③ Spread over 400 square miles, the enormous city of Petra was built in several stages. It has many marvelous tombs, but no one knows ④ what their function was. No bodies were ever found there! Since it was discovered in 1812, Petra has been a popular and fantastic place ⑤ to visit.

23. 다음 글에서 전체 흐름과 관계 없는 문장은?

Here are some skills for giving efficient lectures. ① Talk naturally at a pace to suit your listeners, using pauses and silences as well as changing the tone and pitch of your voice to emphasize what you say. ② More important thing is to speak clearly and directly to people, but this does not mean you have to develop a new voice or different accent. ③ Take notes as much as you can to help your better understanding of what you hear. ④ Avoid becoming frozen to the same spot, but do not walk around too much, either. ⑤ Make full use of resources and audio-visual aids to illustrate and enhance your talk, not trying to fix your eyes on your script.

[24~27] 다음 글의 빈칸에 들어갈 말로 가장 적절한 것을 고르시오.

24. The one tool that unfailingly reduces stress for me is to _____. For example, I'm on my way to an appointment. Traffic moves very slowly because of roadwork or an accident, and I know I'll be very late. I'm getting more and more upset, to the point of physical action. My face is turning red, my stomach is stirring and I start to have a headache. Then finally realizing how unreasonable my reaction is, I take a deep breath and tell myself, "There's nothing I can do about it." So I just accept my powerlessness and soon become relaxed again.

- ① attack                      ② travel                      ③ exercise
- ④ criticize                    ⑤ surrender

25. One day, while my wife was busy shopping in the department store, I decided to wait outside to get some fresh air. Standing outside, I happened to see a sign above, "No Standing." I, a foreigner, was surprised a bit because I thought America was a free country where I could stand or sit at my preference. As I chose to ignore the compelling sign, a police car slowly approached, inside of which two police officers were watching me closely. I immediately _____, for I was (and still am) a law-obeying person. At that time, of course, I didn't realize that the sign was only intended for cars.

- ① sat down                    ② shouted out                ③ parked there
- ④ broke the sign            ⑤ opened the door

26. Ancient people regarded diseases as punishments. But today, we know they are caused by viruses and microorganisms, such as bacteria. This means maintaining good health is largely _____ . If you practice good self-care, or preventive medicine, you are doing things that will help keep you healthy. Getting enough sleep and exercise and eating the right foods are simple things that can help prevent illness. Fixing small problems before they become big problems will also keep your machine running better and longer. Having regular medical checkups will be another effective part you are supposed to do.

- ① having good friends
- ② a well-balanced diet
- ③ your own responsibility
- ④ studying medical machinery
- ⑤ following ancient people's faith

27. For tens of thousands of years, myths were passed on by word of mouth, handed down from generation to generation by poets or professional storytellers. Some villages appointed a specific storyteller whose job was to learn the group's myths and retell them to educate and entertain the other villagers. There were also traveling storytellers who visited different villages, exchanging stories for food and lodging. As often happens when a story is passed on orally, details are changed by each teller and each telling. The result is that _____ in many cultures.

- ① story telling was prohibited by law
- ② there were so many traveling villagers
- ③ sharing common subjects was important
- ④ there are different versions of the same story
- ⑤ story telling was replaced with interesting books

Damien Hirst is a top British artist, famous for his work as a sculptor. However, it appears that at least one person thinks his modern art is garbage. When a cleaner saw a (A) heap/hip of empty beer bottles, dirty ashtrays, and coffee cups, he simply threw it all in the trash. "As soon as I saw it, I sighed because there was so much (B) mess/mist," he said. Apparently he didn't grasp that this was Hirst's latest work of art, with an estimated value of at least £100,000. Fortunately, staff at the art gallery (C) refused/rescued the items from the garbage and recreated the exhibit from photographs.

Korea's traditional under-floor heating system is called Ondol. Ondol, usually made of granite stones, is supported by ① mounds. Because the room floor is ② covered with oiled paper, nothing about this system can be seen in the room. Hot flue gases coming from the ③ fire woods in the fire hole of the kitchen are the very means of floor heating system. These hot gases are ④ directed through the space between the mounds and heat the granite stones. The stones then radiate heat to the room floor right above it. The hot gases and smoke ⑤ stay in the chimney.

It was an unusually dark winter midnight and the wind kept tapping my face. After I finished my shift, I was on my way home from work, driving my bicycle alone. Suddenly, I noticed one man with a long hair, riding behind me secretly. I felt my heart jumping out. I tried to rush home, pushing the pedals. But he kept following me. My heart was almost on fire. I managed to get home and reached the bell. The man reached too. I saw the oddest face in the world under the light. But he said breathing heavily, "Here is your bag you dropped behind."

After a terrible natural disaster like an earthquake or tsunami many donators and communities rush to organize big clothing drives to assist the victims. Undoubtedly, while these donors have their hearts in the right place, it will take long time for volunteers to sort the items and dispose of things that are unwearable. With this reason, charities prefer donations of cash that they can use to purchase needed supplies. Besides, the local economy will benefit if disaster victims are provided cash or coupons to buy clothing from local merchants rather than clothing. The next time disaster strikes and you want to help, consider having a bake sale or yard sale to raise money for the victims.

33. In the nineteenth century, American and British fishermen nearly wiped out the Antarctic seal. However, the seals have made an astonishing comeback, and the current seal population is rapidly increasing. Although scientists admit there may be other factors responsible for the return of the Antarctic seal, they are convinced that the severe decrease in the baleen whale population is a major cause. The baleen whale and the Antarctic seal once competed for the same food source. With the baleen whale practically extinct, the seals now have an almost unlimited food supply.

- ① result from ecosystem destruction
- ② cause of Antarctic seals' re-increase
- ③ unchanging food chain in the Antarctic
- ④ law against capturing the Antarctic seals
- ⑤ efforts of scientists to protect sea animals

34. The UN released a report that we have developed so successfully that we have more food per person than at any previous time in human history, and we are on average three times as wealthy as 40 years ago. The increasing wealth, however, has widened the gap between the rich and the poor. The gap in the United States, for example, shows that the richest one percent of the citizens own 40 percent of the total property of the country, while 80 percent of citizens own just 16 percent. Since the 1990s, 40 percent of the increased wealth went into the pockets of the rich minority, while only 1 percent went to the poor majority.

The above table and graph shows the number of foreign faculty in universities of Korea. ① The total figures for international scholars did not show any big change between 2002 and 2003. ② Then the total numbers steadily increased from 2003 to 2006. ③ Also, the volume of assistant professors was 96 in 2002 and increased continuously ever after. ④ Each year the number of full-time instructors was larger than that of the other three professors. ⑤ The number of professors and associate professors dropped in 2004 and then increased sharply.

36. Sally Ride에 관한 다음 글의 내용과 일치하는 것은?

Sally Ride was born in a city in southern California in 1951. When in her twenties, studying astrophysics, Ride applied to be an astronaut at NASA and finally was accepted in 1977. After having received many NASA's extensive training courses, including parachuting, gravity and weightlessness training, she flew into space first with the space shuttle Challenger in 1983: Ride became the first woman to travel in space. Her second and last space flight was the eight-day Challenger mission in 1984. Ride's third mission was cancelled when the space shuttle Challenger exploded in 1986. Ride worked to investigate the cause of the accident and retired from the space program in 1987.

- ① 30대에 NASA의 우주 비행사가 되기 위해 지원했다.
- ② 1977년에 Challenger호에서 적응 훈련을 받았다.
- ③ 1984년에 처음으로 8일간의 우주 비행을 했다.
- ④ 우주선의 폭발로 세 번째 우주 비행을 할 수 없었다.
- ⑤ 퇴직 후 우주선 폭발의 원인을 규명하려고 하였다.

37. animal manure에 관한 다음 글의 내용과 일치하지 않는 것은?

When farmers clean barns, they put the manure, an organic matter from animal, in a big stack. Then it is spread on their fields for fertilizer. But there is another way of handling animal manure: Farms use it to make electricity. One cow, for example, creates an incredible 30 gallons of manure each day. A scooper pushes the manure into a big concrete tank. The tank is called a digester because what happens there is just like what happens inside a cow: Bacteria get to work and continue to digest the manure. Gas comes from the digester, but it has a positive outcome. The gas is captured and used as fuel to power electric generators.

38. You, teenagers, set goals to make changes. How well do you do when it comes to meeting your goals? Deciding on a goal is one thing, doing it well is another. To have a plan with specific steps is necessary. But once things become really tough, it'll be hard to stay motivated. Indeed, to stick with a goal for a long time, one important thing is needed. As people with problems need help from friends and family, tell your goal to the people who can help for those times when your willpower is doing a couch potato act.

- ⑤ 계획실천에 필요한 동기부여를 위해 휴식을 가져야 한다.

39. If you are reading a fairy tale, you won't probably begin reading by asking yourself questions about plot, characters, or atmosphere. When you read solely for pleasure, you are likely to let your mind drift along with the story, almost as if you were dreaming it. Yet this dreamy, unfocused approach, so perfect for leisure reading, is not appropriate for textbooks. With textbooks, you need a systematic but flexible system for study reading, one that can take into account your assignment, the difficulty of the material, and the author's style of writing.

- ① 책의 종류에 따라 읽는 방법이 다르다.
- ② 독서를 잘하려면 마음의 여유가 필요하다.
- ③ 동화책을 고를 때는 내용파악이 중요하다.
- ④ 학습을 위한 교재는 난이도를 고려해야 한다.
- ⑤ 책을 읽을 때는 저자의 의도파악이 우선이다.

These irregularities allowed forces to start to collect and concentrate matter.

Scientists believe that the Universe was created about 15 billion years ago in a single violent event known as the Big Bang. ( ① ) All the space, time, energy, and matter that make up today's Universe originated in the Big Bang. ( ② ) The early Universe was extremely small, dense, and hot. ( ③ ) So it did not have a perfectly even distribution of energy and particles. ( ④ ) These collections of matter formed into clouds, then condensed into stars and galaxies. ( ⑤ )

41. Learning to work with other people is one of the most important skills you can develop for your school life and for your lifetime of work. More and more often, students are required to work with their peers to carry out a variety of tasks. In any of your classes, you may be asked to discuss an article together or to review information provided in lecture. You may even be asked to do a project together or to write a paper together for which you will be graded as a group! Working collaboratively with other people is a skill that will often be required of you in your lifetime of work.

- ② Group Members' Different Traits
- ③ Competition: Motivation in Learning
- ④ Etiquette: Necessity in Group Work
- ⑤ Cooperation: Important Skill in Our Lives

42. The Hayward Fault, a long and dangerous crack in the Earth, slices along the base of the Berkeley Hills and directly through the University of California. Back in the 1920, architects planned for a grand football stadium at the university. At that time they refused to let a geologic imperfection stand in their way. Earthquake science was still young, but the architects apparently realized that the Hayward is a fault, where two pieces of crust move past each other. So the architects bravely built the stadium in two halves, shaped sort of like a coffee bean with a line. The stadium became a famous site in the university. [3점]

- ③ Berkeley Hills Shaped like a Coffee Bean
- ④ A Structure Overcoming a Natural Obstacle
- ⑤ Architects' Imperfect Knowledge of Geology

43. 다음 글의 상황에 나타난 분위기로 가장 적절한 것은?

One September night a family had gathered round their fireplace, and piled it high with the driftwood of mountain streams, the dry cones of the pine, and the splintered ruins of great trees that had come crashing down the cliff. Up the chimney roared the fire, and brightened the room with its broad blaze. The faces of the father and mother had a sober gladness; the children laughed; the eldest daughter was the image of happiness at seventeen; and the aged grandmother, who sat knitting in the warmest place, was the image of happiness grown old. They had found the "herb, heart's-ease," in the wildest spot of all New England.

A 'schema' is a structured sequence of events that we already understand. A useful way for authors to write stories is also the idea of the schema.

- (A) For instance, at a restaurant you go, order, eat, pay, and leave. This is a restaurant schema. If characters do not follow the usual sequence, stories generate interest.
- (B) The author does not have to specify that they are in the restaurant for eating some food. But the reader is drawn into the story because of his/her own restaurant schema.
- (C) Imagine two friends go to a restaurant and order food, but don't eat it. Why? What could be so important that they aren't touching food that they will pay for?

Have you ever eaten ice cream or slushy ice in a hurry? If so, you might have gotten an ice cream headache—short, sharp, and awful pain in your head! This pain comes thanks to blood vessels connected to the two large carotid arteries in your neck. Some of these smaller blood vessels are just under the skin in your mouth and throat. When they feel cold, they send a message to the brain: "Cold here! We need to get back to a normal temperature!" The brain responds by sending more warm blood fast. To do this, the blood vessels all over your head have to expand to carry that extra blood. When they expand, they press against everything else in your forehead.

Damien Hirst is a top British artist, famous for his work as a sculptor. However, it appears that at least one person thinks his modern art is garbage. When a cleaner saw a (A) heap/hip of empty beer bottles, dirty ashtrays, and coffee cups, he simply threw it all in the trash. "As soon as I saw it, I sighed because there was so much (B) mess/mist," he said. Apparently he didn't grasp that this was Hirst's latest work of art, with an estimated value of at least £100,000. Fortunately, staff at the art gallery (C) refused/rescued the items from the garbage and recreated the exhibit from photographs.
